

Contents

Editorial: Women and Power.....5

Introductions: Galia Golan & Lucy Nusseibeh 6

Focus: Women and Power

Anwarul K. Chowdhury

The Intrinsic Role of Women in Peace and Security - Genesis and Follow Up of UNSCR 1325.....9

Since UNSCR 1325: seeing women as partners in promoting peace.

Mavic Cabrera-Balleza

It Is Time to Walk the Talk and Fulfill the Promise of UNSCR 132516

Progress in implementing UNSCR 1325 has been slow and uneven; we need renewed commitment to fully and effectively implement this foundational document on women and peace and security.

Zahira Kamal

Empowerment of Women25

To shorten the stages of the women's empowerment process, development institutions have provided a range of interventions.

Naomi Chazan

Gender, Power and Politics in Israel30

Translating political representation into meaningful empowerment for women.

Hind Khoury

What Would Be Different If the Peace Process Was Run by Women?37

The potential impact of a women on the peace process.

Galia Golan

A Gender Perspective on Security42

Viewing the Israeli-Palestinian conflict through a different lens.

Lucy Nusseibeh

Women and Power in the Israeli-Palestinian Conflict46

As we assert our power and move away from the stereotypical mindsets of the conflict, we can also help to transform the entire conflict.

Anat Saragusti

Israel and UNSCR 132555

Women's organizations, feminists and peace activists face multiple dilemmas in trying to make themselves heard and have an impact on the political process.

Sonia Najjar

Women's Empowerment and Peace-Building under Occupation?59

Assessing the current obstacles to women's empowerment and peace.

Dahlia Scheindlin

Gender Myths and the Israeli-Palestinian Conflict: A summary of Differences and Similarities in Israeli Jewish Public Opinion67
Do women and men in Israel continue to show similar attitudes toward peace and war as in the past?

Safa Abu Rabia

Out of History: A Journey to Identity through the Silenced Voices of Bedouin Women.....78
Narrative of the internal struggle of a Bedouin, Arab, Muslim, Palestinian, Israeli.

Ofra Yeshua-Lyth

A Year of Saying No81
A group of Israeli women made a political statement by taking Palestinian women to the beach for the day, in protest of Israel’s movement restrictions against Palestinians.

Dalia Fadila

The Multiple Identities of Arab Women in Israel84
Women who are Arab, Muslim, a minority and also Israeli need to reshape a vision of a self, an “other,” and a direction for the future into something that is hopeful.

Joanne Yaron

The Rise of Feminism in Israel88
Contrary to the Zionist ideal, the struggle for women’s rights has been a long and bitter one, in part due to absorption into the male-dominated labor movement.

Joint Palestinian-Israeli projects

Jillian Slutzker

Engaging Grandmothers: Israeli and Palestinian Women Share Their Stories92
An Israeli woman and a Palestinian woman find friendship through the shared experience of bereavement, and participate in a dialogue group for grandmothers from both sides.

Tami Hay-Sagiv and Inbal Ben-Ezer

It Is More than a Game97
Football bridges the divide between Israeli and Palestinian children and encourages a dialogue between them at the Peres Center for Peace.

Abeer Hazboun

The Power of Encounter103
We realized the need for “deeper understanding,” allowing students the space and time to talk about culture, identity, their fears and the conflict itself.

Regional

Althea Middleton-Detzner, Jillian Slutzker, Samuel Chapple-Sokol, and Sana Mahmood

Women and the Egyptian Revolution: A Dream Deferred106
Women played an unprecedented and critical role in Egypt’s revolution yet must work hard not to be excluded from the emerging power structures and the political agenda.

Heidi Basch-Harod

Women of the Middle East: The Jihad Within116

Women were a formidable presence in recent political protests but the struggle for women's rights against entrenched social norms throughout the Middle East is ongoing.

Jenny Levin

Women's Empowerment Cyprus Style122

A documentary film about reconciliation between Greek and Turkish Cypriot women contains poignant relevance to the Israel-Palestine conflict.

Roundtable

Women and Power128

Galia Golan, Molly Malekar, Galit Hasan-Rokem, Lucy Nusseibeh, and Sonia Najjar

Interviews

Lamis Alami

The Role of Women in the Struggle for Palestine137

Alice Shalvi

We Women Have to Be More Assertive in Getting Our Voices Heard148

Cora Weiss

Change Come Fast, Change Come Slow, but Change Come160

Book Reviews

Refusing to be Enemies by Maxine Kaufman -Lacusta.....166
Reviewed by Edy Kaufman

The Politics of Change by Michael Broning170
Reviewed by Rainer Kessler

Culture

Chana Bloch and Chana Kronfeld

On Hovering by Dalia Ravikovitch174

Tala Abu Rahmeh

Palestine is Open for Business181

Rising Transcripts182

Elana Bell

On A Hilltop At The Nassar Farm, Overlooking the Settlement Of Neve Daniel ..184

Maysa Abu Ghannam
My Cancer Diary186

Deb Reich
Living behind the Lines191

Documents

UN Security Council Resolution 1325197

The Nobel Peace Prize 2011.....200

Equality for Women Law200

We Do Not Obey202

Gender Analysis of Israeli-Palestinian Core Negotiation Issues204

Directory of Women’s Empowerment Organizations204

Books on Women in Israel and Palestine204

Translations from Arabic by Leila Dabdoub, Zahra Khalidi and Najat Hirbawi.

Thank you to Zahra Khalidi, Joan Hooper, Molly Kuhn, Emily Lawrence, Jillian Slutzker, Vera Para, Danny Koningisor, Leslie Temple, Robin Bishop and Jude Jacob for their help on this issue.